To whom it may concern,

Derek Fox is an amazing soul! I first met Derek on a set shooting of a short student film "Pretense" in the spring of 2023 in Yonkers, NY. His role was that of an extra in a church congregation and I played the reverend giving a sermon. Amongst the group of other congregational extras, Derek displayed a full embodiment of his role, projecting the perfect energy for this scene making for him to capture my attention and connect with on and off set.

After we were done with this film, I was ready to get a film of my own that I had been working on "Stone's Law" up and going. Upon doing so, I already knew Derek was my guy for the supporting lead role of Fredo Vega, a Dominican cartel leader, which he also embodied and executed perfectly!

Derek has been nothing short of great! He is very professional, helpful and a pleasure to work with and I can honestly say that he is a true natural, genuine at heart and I recommend him to any writer/director looking for an actor who can totally transform and bring their character to life like he did with mine!

Once you've met Derek for yourself, you will see exactly what I mean, and you will love him and never forget him! He is definitely someone who I look forward to working with again and I know that your experience working with him will be a great one as well!

Best regards,
